

23. Endnotes

¹ Understanding Our Company, an IBM Prospectus, page 3-4, 2004

² XBRL: Improving Business Reporting Through Standardization, page 1, PriceWaterhouseCoopers, 2004.

³ XBRL: Improving Business Reporting Through Standardization, page 1, PriceWaterhouseCoopers, 2004.

⁴ Credit is due and acknowledged to those contributing to the Business Case for XBRL; Bryce Pippert, Phil Walenga, © July 2005.

⁵ Credit is due and acknowledged to those contributing to the Comparing XML and XBRL; Cliff Binstock, Rene van Egmond, Phil Walenga, © July 2005.

⁶ XBRL International.

⁷ Credit is due and acknowledged to those contributing to the Hitchhiker's Guide to Understanding the IFRS-GP Taxonomy; Thomas Egan, Colm O hAonghusa, Giancarlo Pellizzari, Trevor Pyman, Allyson Ugarte, © May 2005.

⁸ Credit is due and acknowledged to those contributing to the Hitchhiker's Guide to Understanding the US Financial Reporting Taxonomy Framework (USFRTF); Thomas Egan, Rob Blake, Yossef Newman, © October 2005.

⁹ Credit is due and acknowledged to those contributing to the Patterns Document; Josef Macdonald, Jim Richards, Roger Debreceny, Thomas Egan, Walter Hamscher, Jeff Naumann, David Prather, Geoff Shuetrim, David Scott Stokes, Alan Teixeira, Brad Homer, Hugh Wallis.

¹⁰ Credit is due and acknowledged to Josef Macdonald who contributed to the thinking relating to this area.

¹¹ Credit is due and acknowledged to those contributing to the Understanding XBRL Validation, a Hitchhiker's Guide; Colm O hAonghusa, Allyson Ugarte, © May 2005.

¹² Credit is due and acknowledged to those contributing to the Understanding XBRL Dimensions, a Hitchhiker's Guide; Yossef Newman, Maciej Piechocki, David Scott Stokes, © September 2005.